Harlan's Supermarket Chain Sold to Arlan's Market

By CARRIE PRAZAK-GOURLEY
 The Waller Times

Changes are coming to Harlans, our local grocery retailer. Harlans has been sold to Arlan's Market, headquartered in Seabrook, Tx., and reopened under the new name on Monday, February 23.
 Harlans came to the area in the late 1990's when Harlan Jochen purchased five stores, including the Waller and Hempstead locations. Over the years, Harlan's has been very active in the community, participating yearly in FFA and the Waller County Fair. The company also sponsored buses for playoffs, donated to local churches and schools and to Prairie View A&M University.
 According to Bobby Drew, store manager at the Hempstead location, "Harlan Jochen was a good boss who took care of his people. He will be missed."
 The new owners, Arlan Ames and his wife, Karen, have purchased all five store locations--Waller, Hempstead, Navasota, Schulenberg, and Cameron. Arlan's Market is a family-owned business and was founded by owner Arlan Ames, who is still the store's president. From being a sacker when he was young at Food-a-Rama, he worked his way up to being a supervisor. Although he had a brief stint in college, Ames realized that the gro-

 At 9:02 a.m., the court adjourned into Executive Session for the purpose of discussion regarding the case entailed City of Hempstead and Citizens Against the Landfill, Hempstead v. Waller County.

 Upon reconvening at 9:37 a.m., an attorney hired by Waller County, Eric McGee, of Allison, Bass, and McGee, stated that terms for a Joint Agreed Resolution and proposed Joint Agreed Final Judgment had been received and signed by the City of Hempstead, Pintail, LLC, and CALH.
 Terms of the settlement include the following: 1) Voiding the Host Agreement between Waller County and Pintail, LLC and voiding Waller County Ordinance No. 2013-001, 2) An award of attorneys' fees in favor of CALH in the amount of $325,000, 3) An award of attorneys' fees to the City of Hempstead in the amount of $245,000, 4) Agreement that Waller County will not exercise any authority pursuant to Texas Health and Safety Code concerning disposal of solid waste within Hempstead's extraterritorial jurisdiction until requested to do so by the City of Hempstead, and 5)

Citizens Rally Against Proposed High Speed Rail

By CARRIE PRAZAK-GOURLEY
 The Waller Times

On Thursday, February 19, at 7 p.m., the citizens group No Texas High Speed Rail hosted an Opposition Meeting at Evelyn Turlington Elementary School against the proposed construction of a 240-mile high-speed rail project between Houston and Dallas. Over 350 citizens from Waller County, as well as neighboring Grimes, Montgomery, and Harris Counties, attended the meeting.
 Elected officials in attendance were Waller County Judge Trey Duhon, Grimes County Judge Ben Lemman, Waller County Pct. 2 Commissioner Russell Klecka, and Grimes Co. Pct. 4 Commissioner Pam Finka, as well as a representative from State Senator Lois Kolkhurst's office.
 Recently, the Texas Central Railway has requested its Environmental Impact Study to focus on the Utility Corridor, which passes through both Waller and Grimes County, rather than the rail corridor, a decision which implies that a route choice has been made. However, Judge Duhon stated it is not official, since the final decision rests with the Federal Railroad Commission.

 The route, no matter where located, will utilize tax subsidies which is detrimental to all taxpayers. Also, the high-speed rail will utilize eminent domain, which will displace property owners, and seize private property.
 Duhon stated that the project is not economically feasible, will not be competitive, and is too costly for travel, and a waste of taxpayer money.
 Duhon, who serves on the Waller County Subregional Planning Committee has already requested coordination (or equal partnership) with the Federal Railroad Commission, which he feels is the

Waller City Council Moves Forward With Main Street Revitalization

By CARRIE PRAZAK-GOURLEY
 The Waller Times

On Monday, February 16, the Waller City Council met at 7 p.m. in the Waller ISD Board Room. Present were council members Edna Eaton, Nancy Arnold, Dwayne Hajek, Sidney Johnson, and Roger Frey, and Mayor Danny Marburger presided.
 Council voted unanimously to allow the Goodman Corporation to move forward into the design phase of the Main Street Revitalization project and agreed to allow Goodman to seek further grants for funding the project.

Jim Webb, representative of the Goodman Corporation, announced the Revitalization Project received an additional grant from TxDot, covering 68% of $400,000 outlay required by the city. This is in addition to the prior $1.6 million grant already approved. Webb stated that acquiring further funding is possible, due to numerous grants available for rural projects.
 Phase I of the Main Street Revitalization Project will include design and ultimately construction of sidewalks in a three block downtown area, from Main Street north to Cherry St., and from Saunders St. west to Key St. In addition to sidewalks, the project includes adding trees and landscaping and a park-like plaza.
 According to John Isom, Director of Waller Economic Development, "This is a great opportunity for Waller County. We are excited to see Main Street north to Cherry St., and from Saunders St. west to Key St. In addition to sidewalks, the project includes adding trees and landscaping and a park-like plaza."

Waller Wonders - Spring is almost here ... almost!

By NANCY ARNOLD

The weather this year has been terrific ... better than terrific, especially for what is supposed to still be winter. It's definitely better than last year at this time.

Apparently Somebody-in-Charge noticed Sunday afternoon, though, because in the space of two hours, the temperature dropped from 79 to 51, the clouds rolled in, and the humidity required an umbrella!

So, now it looks like we're going to have winter this last week in February ... rain, wind, cold, some ice, maybe a little snow and sleet. Brrrr!

But really, we're just a little uncomfortable. We're not dealing with snow piled 12 feet high, making sure we keep it off the roof so it doesn't cave in. And I can't even imagine trying to travel in it!

I was on the phone with a woman in Boston, arranging for a seminar (here in Texas!) in April. She said she could not IMAGINE what her forefathers were thinking when they settled in Boston. She went on to complain that the entire region was uninhabitable during the winter, and she was questioning her own sanity for staying there.

Sure, we have the occasional hurricane. They bring lots of damage, although in a relatively confined area. And some years we might have a couple of hurricanes and tropical storms. However, they blow through, do their damage, and die. They don't linger for weeks, dumping misery on us day after day.

So, while we may be experiencing a touch of winter, it doesn't require much more than a heavy jacket and an umbrella. We can get where we are going without much trouble (of course, there is that one lady on the road who can't seem to drive in bad weather), school doesn't close, and we can still take the dogs outside.

The redbuds are blooming, the other trees are putting out new leaves, and my Carolina jasmine is bursting with yellow flowers. Spring will be here in a couple of weeks ... all without us having to wield snow shovels. We are blessed!

On a weather note: I got a chart from my electric provider showing my usage for 2014. I suppose that could be a useful tool, but really, don't we know if we're using a lot or a little electricity?

For instance ... July and August (the highest usage months) showed almost identical kilowatt hours, way ahead of June, followed by a steep drop-off in September. I didn't need a chart to tell me that!

For decades, the Waller Lions Club had a Flag Program. For a small annual fee, the Lions would put out an American flag at your house or business for all the major "flag" events. There was a time when flags proudly flew on every street. Over time, there were fewer subscribers - I don't know why - but it was sad.

The Lions Club membership dwindled, and finally last year, they put out a call for another organization to take over the Flag Program. In addition to the display of patriotism, it was also a modest fundraiser for the Lions, and could be so for a new organization.

The Waller Masonic Lodge #808 elected to continue this program, bless their hearts. Join in this effort, and have our flag proudly flying at your house or business. The money collected will go to help the needy in our community, provide scholarships for graduates of Waller High School, and for charities in the area.

To sign up to show your patriotism by flying Old Glory, call Calvin Trapp at 936.931.9324; Bart Harvey at 281.615.8345, or Jason Tones at 936.648.8399.

Two of the "flag days" in 2015 have passed, but Memorial Day, Flag Day, and Independence Day are right around the corner, so don't wait - call one of these gentlemen today.

Celebrating Black History Month

By CARRIE PRAZAK-GOURLEY

African Americans have contributed to American society in numerous ways and through countless endeavors throughout American history, and are especially renowned for their contributions to the fields of science, medicine, and music. Their overwhelming impact on American culture cannot be underestimated.

One well-renowned scientific inventor is Dr. Herbert Smitherman, a pioneer executive and professional chemist at Procter and Gamble, the first black person with a doctorate that the company hired.

Dr. Smitherman, armed with a Ph.D. in organic chemistry, developed an incredible number of patents, including Crest toothpaste, Safeguard soap, Bounce fabric softener, Folgers Coffee and Crush soda, to name a few. Nicknamed the "Jackie Robinson of Procter and Gamble", Dr. Smitherman spent 24 years at the company before turning in his lab coat to work as a professor at Wilberforce University.

Another well-known African American inventor is Elijah McCoy, who developed an automatic train engine lubricator in 1872. Others tried to duplicate his invention, but all were inferior copycats, and railway engineers began to request "the real McCoy", coining the popular expression meaning "the real thing", still in use today.

Jan Ernst Matzeliger is remembered for his invention that brought shoes to the masses. In 1883, he invented an automated shoemaking machine that quickly stitched the top of the shoe to the sole and revolutionized the shoemaking industry, enabling all Americans to be able to better afford shoes.

Another famous African American inventor, Garrett Morgan, is known for two life-saving inventions. In 1914, he created the "safety hood" which made polluted air breathable and became a prototype for gas masks used for WWI to protect soldiers from poison gas.

He is also known for developing the traffic signal, patented in 1923, at which time roads were quite dangerous. Morgan's traffic signal was the first to feature three commands--stop, go, yield-

-instead of two, which controlled traffic more effectively and saved countless lives. His patent is still in use today.

Dr. Charles Richard Drew pioneered the nation's first large scale blood bank during WWII. In the late 1930's, Drew invented a way to process and preserve blood plasma, allowing it to be shipped for blood transfusions. During WWII, he recruited and organized the collection of thousands of pints of blood donations for American troops. It was the first mass blood collection program of its kind.

More recently, Dr. Patricia Bath, in 1981, invented a surgical laser tool used during eye surgery which has helped restore or improve vision for patients worldwide. Her invention, the Laserphaco Probe, was patented in 1988.

In the field of technology, Mark Dean co-invented the personal computer. Dean worked for IBM as a computer scientist and was one of the original inventors of the IBM personal computer and the color PC monitor. He also created the technology that allows devices such as keyboards, mice, and printers to be plugged into a computer and to communicate with each other. Dean earned a doctorate in computer science from Stanford University.

African American contributions to American music are beyond measure--from gospel, to blues and jazz--great musicians are as numerous as stars in the sky. Who can mention twentieth century music without speaking of Scott Joplin, Duke Ellington, Chuck Berry, or Stevie Wonder? From blues to zydeco, jazz to hip-hop, African American spirituals about struggle and personal empowerment to the forefathers of rock and roll, America's roots in music is replete without the influence of the African-American community. Black History month is a well-established annual celebration of achievements by black Americans and a time for recognizing the central role of African Americans in U.S. history. The event grew out of "Negro History Week", the brainchild of noted historian Carter G. Woodson.

Since 1976, every U.S. President has designated February as Black History Month. President Gerald Ford first recognized the month, and called upon the public to "seize the opportunity to honor the too-often neglected accomplishments of black Americans in every area of endeavor throughout our history."

That noble purpose, started in 1976, grounded in a just cause, must not be neglected.

cery business was his calling. Ames currently owns 14 stores, including one in nearby Magnolia. Ames says that customers can look forward to many store improvements over the following weeks. Each store will acquire new decor and signs, and a total overhaul of the meat and produce sections. In addition, Arlan's will display a wider variety of products and lower prices. New equipment, including freezers are on order.

During the remodeling, the store will remain in continuous operation, but each week, shoppers will notice new enhancements.

"Customers will be very pleased with the changes," Ames stated.

Ames noted that his stores are also committed to local community involvement and currently help local food banks, churches, and little leagues.

Arlan's prides itself in providing its customers with excellent quality service and exemplary quality goods. In fact, one of its stores, the Arlan's Market in New Braunfels was awarded their Downtown Association's Business of the Year award in December of 2014.

Products sold in Arlan's Market include great quality meats, local as well as international brands of beer and wine, as well as fresh produce, breads, and pastries. Ames said he plans to add a fresh deli and whole roasted chickens in the future.

Both Waller store manager Randy Vincent, and Hempstead's store manager, Bobby Drew, are excited about the buyout and are looking forward to the improvements.

Ames invites customers to check out the store soon. "You'll be glad you did."

Andres Woodcock Arrested on Federal Indictment for Immigration Fraud

According to Waller County District Attorney Elton Mathis, on February 15, 2015, after a 2-year-long joint investigation with Department of Homeland Security, Homeland Security Investigations, Waller County Criminal District Attorney's Office, Waller County Sheriff's Office, the Federal Bureau Of Investigation, the Department of Public Safety, the Drug Enforcement Administration, and the Internal Revenue Service, Andres Victor Woodcock was arrested on federal charges of Procuring Naturalization (Citizenship) by Fraud. Woodcock was indicted by a federal grand jury on February 3, 2015.

After a state investigation was initiated by the Waller County District Attorney's Office, it was determined that Woodcock, a native of Colombia and resident of Waller County, was alleged to be using Paso Fino horses as instruments to defraud investors in his horse breeding business, Mathis said.

"It was common practice that Woodcock would sell interests in his horses as an investment," Mathis said. "These investments ranged from $50,000 to $100,000 USD each."

According to Mathis, after Woodcock promised a much higher return on the victim's original investment, several victims complained that Woodcock would take their investment and would never make a return on it. In some cases, never making contact with the victim at all. One such incident resulted in Woodcock being indicted, along with a co-defendant, in Waller County for Securing Execution of a Document by Deception, a felony offense for which he is currently awaiting trial in the District Court of Waller County, Mathis said.

After the Waller County grand jury indicted Woodcock, investigators from the District Attorney's Office met with Homeland Security and the FBI to conduct further investigations, Mathis stated.

"These charges are a result of the joint efforts of federal and Texas authorities working together," Mathis said. "As they should, these agencies have worked together, sharing information about a common threat to the safety and well-being of our local community. I look forward to continuing to work with Mr. Ken Magidson, our U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Texas and his Assistant United States Attorney Ed Gallagher, to keep our region safe."

THE VFW IN GENERAL:
 The VFW traces its roots back to 1899 when veterans of the Spanish-American War (1898) and the Philippine Insurrection (1899-1902) founded local organizations to secure rights and benefits for their service: Many arrived home wounded or sick. There was no medical care or veterans' pension for them, and they were left to care for themselves. Veterans banded together and formed organizations with what would become known as the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

Since then, the VFW's voice had been instrumental in:

- (1) establishing the Veterans Administration,
- (2) creating a GI bill for the 20th century,

All full and complete release from all claims, by any party involving the Settlement Agreement, past or future (which would halt future appeals on this lawsuit).

Judge Duhon opened the matter of accepting the Settlement Agreement for discussion.

Commissioner Pct. 1, John Amsler, spoke in favor of the settlement stating, "I occupied this chair with the belief that the landfill 'scandal' was brought forth by irregularities in the process of governance...moral precepts are at stake with this vote."

Judge Duhon then spoke saying, "I believe that, as demonstrated by the jury verdict, that the people of Waller County were deprived of having input into the process, and no matter how lucrative the agreement, it cannot stand. I believe that this Settlement Agreement is in the best interest of the citizens of Waller County and is an opportunity for the county to heal and move forward."

Duhon continued, stating, "First and foremost, I adhere to this fundamental belief on government expressed in the Texas Constitution, 'All political power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority, and instituted for their benefit.'"

Commissioners then voted in a 3-2 split decision in favor of the Settlement Agreement. Judge Duhon, and Commissioners Klecka and Amsler voted in favor of the settlement, while Commissioners Barnett and Beckendorff were opposed.

After the vote, a hearing was held in retired District Judge's Terry Flenniken's court and an Agreed Motion for Entry of Judgment and Agreed Final Judgment was presented to the judge. Judge Flenniken, after affirming with each attorney that each party was agreeable to the settlement, signed the Order and Agreed Judgment at 10:20 a.m., ending the landfill litigation.

Since TCEQ will ultimately determine the fate of the landfill, both CALH and the City of Hempstead will continue the fight in the upcoming Contested Case Hearing and the trial in Austin with the State Office of Administrative Hearings scheduled to begin in August 24.

Bill Huntsinger, of Citizens Against the Landfill, stated in regards to the settlement, "After 44 months, it's nice to finally have it officially acknowledged that your cause was right."

"WE CAN'T WAIT TO SERVE YOU"

Ben Leman has formed Texans Against HSR, a 501 (c)4, which has a strategy for fighting the high-speed rail. This group is dedicated to defeating this project by keeping the public informed, holding elected officials accountable, and by actively lobbying in both Austin and Washington.

Leman emphasized several negatives of the HSR project: 1) The Texas Central Railroad's cost estimates are too low, and 2) Texas State Officials have concluded it is not feasible to construct and operate high-speed rail solely with private funding, and 3) Texas Central Railroad passenger estimates are far too high, and 4) High speed rail projects end up getting paid for by the taxpayers.

Although the project is being privately funded, of concern to many is the mainly foreign investments, particularly the Bank of Japan. Though unknown to the general public, the bullet train will actually be a 50-year-old Japanese model, which runs on steel tracks, almost an obsolete technology. In addition, the HSR will require overhead wires and adequate power supply stations along the entire route. Currently, the cost is slated at $41 million per mile, but like the California project, will certainly rise.

John Howard, of First Traditions Strategic Communications, hired by Texans Against the HSR, stated that this is a "David v. Goliath" fight, and that money will be needed to "destroy the giant". It is estimated that the yearly battle will cost $120,000, a cost expected to be raised in total by all affected counties together.

Opposition groups are expected to join together to coordinate the fight and Texans Against HSR will initiate a website on Monday, February 23, which will provide supporters of the cause the ability to make online donations.

During public comments, citizens expressed their opinion that high speed rail is bad for rural Texas. It bisects agricultural land, displaces residents, farms, and businesses, disturbs wildlife habitats, and decreases property values.

What Kind Of Waller County Do You Want To Leave Your Children?

It Is Time To Unite Against The Proposed Highway 6 Landfill.

This pile of garbage will eventually rise fifteen (15) stories tall.

Here Are The Facts:

The landfill sits on the recharge zone of the Chico Aquifer and will contaminate our ground water.

Tributaries on the landfill site run into pristine Clear Creek.

The contamination will travel to the city of Hempstead before your young children go to college.

Waller County air will be filled with the stench of trash, dust and some landfill gasses.

Green Group has tried to buy your silence, promising 52 million dollars over thirty (30) years.

This is what they call the Host Agreement.

Do The Math!

That's less than 40 dollars a person per year. Is our way of life worth just forty bucks?

Of course not.

Green Group will make billions of dollars using Waller County as a dumping ground for Houston's trash.

This is a garbage dump hatched in a secret back room deal.

The jury has already ruled former Judge Beckendorff, former Commissioners
Frank Pokluda and Stanley Kitzman broke the law at least thirteen times doing it.

It is undisputed their actions have cost you nearly $ 750,000 in legal fees so far.

And that still won't stop the dump.

Demand Waller County Commissioners vote today!

Fight this environmental disaster in Austin!

WISD Hosts Student Health Advisory Committee Meeting

WISD Public Information

Waller ISD hosted a Student Health Advisory Committee SHAC meeting on the afternoon of Tuesday, February 17. Teachers, parents and staff attended the event to discuss several important upcoming events concerning student health, as well as prospective health initiatives the schools are considering implementing.

SHAC Chair, Lindsey Gray, led the meeting, and opened by introducing attendees and giving a brief overview of what a SHAC meeting entails. She informed the group that the Student Health Advisory Committee meets four times a year and the meeting council represents the Waller ISD community in evaluating the curriculum and programs in nutrition, health fitness, and health education.

Waller ISD's Lead Nurse, Karen Reid and Gray addressed the attendees with human growth and development information occurring in our schools, and discussed a new mobile app that the school's physical education teachers can use as a resource in their classrooms. As SHAC Chair, Gray attends the Harris County School Health meetings, which gives her ideas of health projects that other local districts are implementing.

Gray presented one such idea at the meeting, showing attendees the It's Time Texas app. This app is a resource that was developed for teachers as a resource to help build healthier schools. The app is available in the iTunes app store, as well as the Google Play store, and aids physical education teachers in ensuring their students are meeting the weekly 135 minutes of physical activity requirement, among other resources. The app also provides age-appropriate lessons for the students based on the curriculum they must know, and develops suitable workouts according to the elementary, middle or high school student age group selected.

Gray also discussed the Shape Up Houston Million Pound Challenge wellness program. The Million Pound Challenge is a low cost wellness program that employers can implement that allows employees to access health tracking journals, track participation and results, and receive advice on healthy living.

Gray also gave an update on the Healthy Living Matters Obesity Prevention Collaborative. The Healthy Living Matters initiative has drafted legislation with a strategic plan directive for state agencies including the Texas Department of Agriculture, the Texas Education Agency, and the Health and Human Services Commission.

In addition to these directives, there are also several education related items the collaborative is working towards, including increasing junior high and high school physical education requirements, restoring the high school health class requirement, and develop age-appropriate recess policies and outdoor play guidelines.

The initiative is working to develop state guidelines for wellness programs for teachers and care providers, as well as a pilot program for those using SNAP and WIC benefits at Farmers Markets. Additionally, the initiative members are tracking several childhood obesity prevention bills.

Gray closed the meeting after discussing these topics, and

Waller ISD Student Health Advisory Committee SHAC Chair, Lindsey Gray, presented several important topics to the parents, teachers, and community members who attended the February 18 SHAC meeting. The SHAC meets four times a year and the meeting council represents the Waller ISD community in evaluating the curriculum and programs in nutrition, health fitness, and health education. informed attendees of the next meeting date on April 21. More meeting details will be released as the date nears. Parents and community members are encouraged to attend.

Pennies for Patients Fundraiser Aided by FSE

WISD Public Information

Waller ISD's Fields Store Elementary held a fundraiser in the month January that encouraged students, teachers, and families to donate their spare change for cancer patients. Fields Store Elementary's Cortnie Zak coordinated the event, in which students brought in coins, cash and checks each day to contribute to the school's growing donation.

The school's student council members aided in coordinating a Console Cleanout driving dismissal, which collected over $100 in only 20 minutes. Teachers also participated by cleaning out their purses and wallets. Teachers were incentivized to make the donation by offering the opportunity to earn jean passes which allow teachers to wear jeans to school on the day of their choice.

course of the fundraiser, the Fields Store Student Council would raise awareness of Leukemia and Lymphoma and the announcements by reading facts about the debilitating disease they were fighting to raise money for. Student Council members also made star shaped crayons and bracelets to sell for twenty-five cents to support the fundraiser.

Fields Store Elementary held classroom competitions to see which class could raise the most funds. The reward for winning first place will allow each student in the winning class to throw their own individual pie at Fields Store Elementary Principal Melissa Crosby at the National Blue Ribbon School celebration the school will host in mid-March.

The winning class was Mrs. Hernandez's 3rd grade class, who raised $313.06. Coming in at a close second was Ms. Warneke's 2nd grade class with $252.66. In total, Fields Store Elementary raised a whopping $2,568.05. More than $261 million dollars has been raised since 1993 by students and educators throughout the U.S. and Canada.

The Leukemia and Lymphoma Society is the world's largest voluntary health organization that is dedicated to funding blood cancer research and providing education and patient services.

Development Corporation, the engineering and design phase will take place in 2015, with actual construction of the project in 2016. In the future, the city plans to add a new City Hall, and to obtain investments from developers to construct new downtown buildings, similar to what can be seen in Fulshear, Tx.

At 7:40 p.m., council entered into Executive Session pursuant to Section 551.072 of the Texas Govt. Code for the purpose to deliberate the purchase, exchange, lease, or value of real property.

Council reconvened in Open Session at 8:10 p.m. and voted unanimously for the city to move forward with negotiations to purchase a property located at 307 Waller St.

During staff reports, John

Isom discussed developing an Improvement District in the City of Waller's ETJ, the purpose of which would be to encourage major developers to invest in up-scale housing developments in the Waller area.

Superintendent of Public Works, Gene Schmidt discussed plans to upgrade Waller City Park, a project initiated by the Waller Women's Club, to bring the park inline with the Americans with Disabilities Act, and to generally upgrade the facilities.

Police Chief Phil Rehak announced that he would be representing the City of Waller in a Law Enforcement Forum to be held on February 17 at Prairie View City Hall. The meeting was to be hosted by Citizens Concerned About Crime in Prairie View, a group organized in reaction to the recent murders within the city over the last 10 months. Expected attendees were Waller County District Attorney Elton Mathis, Waller County Sheriff Glenn Smith, City of Prairie View Police Chief Larry Johnson, and Hempstead

Police Chief David Hartley. Solutions were sought to curb the rising crime rate in the City of Prairie View.

Ann Smith, Interim City Secretary, announced that the new City Secretary, Cynthia Ward, is slated to begin her tenure for the City of Waller on March 2. Ward is a native of Bellmead, Texas and has served that city in various capacities for 16 years, the last five as city secretary. She is a Texas Registered Municipal Clerk, graduating from the program on January 22, 2015.

shared that eating healthy, being active, and getting a good night's rest helps him perform in games, and it will also help them do well as they take the test.

He said that a great way to ensure proper nutrition is to divide your plate with imaginary lines, and fill it half with veggies, a quarter with meat or protein, and a quarter with starches. This ensures a balanced diet and allows your body to obtain the nutrients it needs in order to stay healthy and have energy. Meyer parted with the message that conditioning your mind and body by doing these things will allow students to conquer the STAAR tests.

Vandermeer spoke to students again to introduce Houston Texans wide receiver Devier Posey. Posey encouraged students to take time to prepare their minds in order to accomplish goals. He stated to your teachers in order to put the correct information into your brain, study notes, listen closely, and pay attention in class.

He drew on his own experience as a football star, stating that in order to perform his best in games, he has to listen in team meetings and at practice. Posey informed students that they must practice for the STAAR test in order to be successful because practice makes perfect.

A great way to practice, he shared, is to do all of your homework every day. Doing this will help students to remember important information when taking the STAAR test. Posey also encouraged students to practice the STAAR strategies their teachers use in class. Posey reiterated the importance of eating a healthy and balanced breakfast before the test before wishing the kids good luck on the STAAR and heading back to practice.

Vandermeer began to close the presentation when a few unexpected guests took the screen. Houston Texans cheerleaders, Vanessa and Nicole, introduced themselves to the students and gave a few more helpful hints for taking the STAAR test.

The cheerleaders said that it is important to get a good night's rest before the test and once again, encouraged students to eat a healthy breakfast in order to have energy for the day. Vanessa and Nicole shared that eating healthy snacks throughout the day fuels the body, and being positive when taking the STAAR test is essential to doing your best.

The cheerleaders said that if students get discouraged when taking the test, it is okay to take a short break, take a deep breath and stretch. Doing so may even help students perform better on the test because it allows their brain time to remember the STAAR strategies they have learned. The cheerleaders wished students good luck on their test, and Vandermeer and Toro closed the program by reviewing what the students learned throughout the program.
